Dear Russell,

Legal report

You are quite correct that I told you I would provide you with a copy of legal advice we received.

Nevertheless, I must consider the wisdom of the University claiming legal privilege for the advice. On further reflection, and following discussion with the Vice-Chancellor in view of my earlier promise to you, I have decided I should not provide you with a copy of the lawyers' advice.

You will realise that implies that the University will be likely to decline to provide a copy under FOI should you seek it, on the basis of legal privilege.

Yours sincerely

Douglas Porter
Secretary and Registrar.
